

SIN 611TRAINAW Acquisition Workforce Training Ordering Guide

Multiple Award Schedule - Professional Services Category

- A. Course Eligibility – Agencies shall determine vendor course eligibility by checking DAU and FAI websites equivalency and verification listings to ensure most up-to-date compliance with this requirement.
- B. Training Modality – Training classes may be delivered via classroom, virtual classroom using synchronous and asynchronous platforms, or blended instructor led online web based training for distant or virtual learning environments. Virtual delivery platforms must be accessible without the need for added plug-ins or downloads and in accordance with the ordering agency network policy requirements. Classroom based offerings must accommodate between 15 and 30 students or as further defined by the ordering agency task order. Classroom sizes for virtual, blended, and online courses will be specified in the ordering agency task order.
- C. Instructor Requirements – Instructors are expected to be well-versed with subject matter and up to date on acquisition laws and regulations. Qualification and certifications of instructors will be specified and determined at the agency Task Order (TO) level.
- D. Training Class Locations – Training classes may be held at Government or contractor provided facilities and shall be priced accordingly in the FSS vendor price catalog. All class offerings held at Contractor provided facilities shall adequately accommodate class sizes, IT requirements, and comply with Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).
- E. Course Cancellations/Substitutions or Other Changes – Due to an occasional need to change the dates and locations of training, classes may be cancelled, substituted, relocated, or rescheduled by the Government, without penalty, if given a minimum of 30 days' notice prior to the scheduled class start date or as stated in the ordering agency task order.
- F. Quality Assurance – Vendors shall ensure that all written and student provided course material is current with applicable acquisition laws and regulations. For example, vendors are expected to update relevant course material in a real time fashion to align with Federal Acquisition Circulars, official changes to other agency supplemental regulations, and other acquisition related changes. In other words, course material must be consistent with all acquisition related laws, regulations, Office of Management and Budget policy memoranda, or Executive Orders that are in the public domain.

When course material has already been printed and there is not enough lead time to correct or reprinting material would be cost prohibitive to the contractor, vendors may provide supplemental handouts or inserts to students.

In addition to vendor annual certification to DAU to maintain course equivalency status and to FAI for verification status, the vendor shall also provide an attestation and evidence of updated course(s) material within 30 days following the publication of changes to acquisition related laws, regulations, Office of Management and Budget policy memoranda, or Executive Orders that are in the public domain.

Failure to appropriately and timely update course content could jeopardize DAU course(s) equivalency status or FAI Verification status and could potentially impact a vendor’s past performance rating.

G. Past Performance – Agencies are reminded to appropriately document past performance to reflect and distinguish the spectrum of a vendor’s currency and quality in training (both course material and instructor) provided hereunder. In addition, agencies should notify the designated FSS COR of instances where a vendor’s training content or instructor delivery was found to be outdated and/or technically incorrect.
