DENVER/LAKEWOOD DINING GUIDE

While visiting Denver, be sure to try some of the popular dining spots. Whether it's a buffalo burger, Rocky Mountain oysters or a Denver omelet you crave, the mile high has something to satisfy your cravings!

Dining in Central Denver

The Sushi Den is consistently ranked as some of the best sushi in the city. It's a high-energy, restaurant with three separate dining rooms and two floors. Sushi Den is a swanky, must-try sushi restaurant with inventive dishes and arguably the freshest fish you can find this side of the Rockies and this far from a coast. Sushi Den is known for flying in fresh fish daily from Japan, but what truly sets it apart is its smoky flavored wasabi. Reservations are accepted on weekdays but expect to wait for a table on any night of the week and cozy up to one of their two full bars.

ENTERTAINMENT IN D E N V E R

Denver has more live music venues than Los Angeles and many of the greatest acts come here. Denver is renowned for its music scene, catering to every music lover's taste, from classical to punk to jazz. Whether you're in the mood for a big act, cover bands, or a local band, Denver has every genre of music. Besides the well-known concert and entertainment venues, you can find live music in many bars and restaurants throughout town.

The Denver Performing Arts Complex (DPAC) is the largest performing arts complex under one roof, and the second-largest center of its kind in terms of number of venues and seating capacity. Connected by an 80-foot-tall glass roof, DPAC houses 10 performance spaces on its four-block, 12-acre site. The DPAC is home to a Tony Award-winning repertory theatre company, Broadway touring productions, contemporary dance and ballet, magnificent chorales, a major symphony orchestra, internationally acclaimed opera and more.

POPULAR ATTRACTIONS

Denver is home to many great attractions besides the Rocky Mountains. Denver has been described as urban sophistication meets outdoor adventure. With 300 days of sunshine, a walkable downtown, thriving art and cultural scenes, and the Rocky Mountains always in the background, there are so many reasons why Denver is a great place to visit. While you're in Denver, take the time to explore the many great attractions in the Mile High City!

16th Street Mall is Denver's hub of shopping, dining and entertainment that stretches for 16 blocks in the heart of downtown between Market and Broadway streets. Locals and visitors alike enjoy strolling down the Mall's wide, pedestrian-friendly sidewalks to people-watch and visit with friends. The street is also wi-fi friendly for business people and students.

The City of Black Hawk (west of Denver) is a town of heavy-set men in snakeskin roach killers, cocktail waitresses in short, black mini-skirts, and a hope — a hope that you might win it big. Despite Black Hawk's 22 casinos (which is more than Atlantic City), the town lacks the neon glow that characterizes its bigger-than-life counterparts, Reno, Las Vegas or the boats in Kansas City. Instead, it has something very Colorado — cowboys. There are shuttles that pick up people in various Denver metro locations for transport to Black Hawk.

Denver Aquarium was purchased by Landry's Restaurants, Inc. in 2003 when it was Denver's Ocean Journey Aquarium. In July 2005 the redesigned aquarium complex was reopened as the Downtown Aquarium. The entertainment and dining complex features a public aquarium boasting more than one million gallons of underwater exhibits highlighting fascinating ecosystems around the world and housing over 500 species of animals, an interactive sting ray reef touch tank, the Aquarium Restaurant, the Dive Lounge, and the Nautilus Ballroom. There are exhibits of ecosystems ranging from underwater to desert to rainforest.

The Denver Art Museum is a private, non-profit, educational resource for Colorado. The museum's mission is to enrich the lives of Colorado and Rocky Mountain residents. The museum acquires, preserves, and presents artwork in both the permanent collections and temporary exhibitions, and by supporting these works with exemplary educational and scholarly programs. Today, the 356,000-square-foot museum complex includes collection gallery space, three temporary exhibition venues, and the Lewis I. Sharp Auditorium. The Denver Art Museum is internationally recognized for its family-friendly environment and has received critical acclaim for encouraging art appreciation through interactive activities.

There are several reasons that Denver Botanic Gardens was recently named one of the top ten public gardens in the nation by Country Living Gardener magazine, but here's one of the most touching: This garden takes advantage of all the senses, providing touchable, smellable, tasty, colorful and aural outdoor experiences all rolled into one. The therapeutic garden also serves as a landscape-design model for the facilities that cater to patrons with disabilities or special needs, featuring wheelchair-accessible paths, raised beds, container plantings and other amenities.

Whether you're young or old, a trip to the zoo is always an exciting thing. At the Denver Zoo, kids and grown-ups alike can marvel at over 4,000 animals, from lions and tigers to kangaroos and giraffes to grizzly bears and arctic wolves. Visitors can explore recreated rainforests, wander down pathways flanked by tundra wildflowers, study Asian elephants in their natural habitats and have a picnic without ever leaving the park. The Denver Zoo is one of the most exciting family-friendly attractions in Denver.

The 868-acre Red Rocks Park and Amphitheater, nestled in the Rocky Mountain Foothills just 15 miles outside of Denver near Morrison, was once listed among the Seven Wonders of the World — and with good reason. Ship Rock and Creation Rock, the largest of the monoliths, tower 300 feet above the Red Rocks Amphitheater. These massive brick-colored sandstone monoliths are taller than Niagara Falls. Its natural acoustics make the amphitheatre the favorite of many musicians and fans alike, hosting some of the greatest bands and musicians in history.

Denver is well known as the Mile High City, but visitors will be surprised to find that it's also one of the flattest major U.S. cities — it's actually located on a wide Rocky Mountain plateau. For confirmation that you really are a mile high, climb the front stairs of the State Capitol Building until you reach the 15th step [marked for your convenience], an official 5,280 feet above sea level. In addition to being able to check off another box on your list of Denver tourism stops, take a tour of the Corinthian-style Colorado granite Capitol with its gold leaf covered dome.

The U.S. Mint in Denver originally opened in the mid-1800s to change gold and silver found by miners and prospectors in the surrounding hills into coins and ingots. The Denver facility was bought by the U.S. Treasury in 1863 and transformed into a U.S. Mint. However, it wasn't until 1906 that the Denver facility began actually minting coins after being an Assay Office for the interim years. Today, free 20-minute tours at the Denver-based U.S. Mint show visitors how blank ore becomes treasury coins.

S P O R T S T E A M S

Denver is home to many sports teams and is part of a select group of only 13 U.S. cities with teams from four major sports. Whether you want to attend a professional sporting event, minor league, or collegiate game, Denver can offer you a variety of sporting events to attend all year round.

The Denver Broncos of the National Football League have drawn crowds of over 70,000 since their AFL origins in the early 1960s at Mile High Stadium, and continue to draw fans today to their current home, Invesco Field at Mile High. The team has advanced to the Super Bowl six times and has won back-to-back Super Bowls in 1998 and 1999.

The Colorado Rockies came to Denver in 1993. One of the top priorities of former Mayor Federico Pena was bringing Major League Baseball to the city, an effort which culminated in the construction of Coors Field and the creation of the Colorado Rockies (National League) as an expansion franchise in 1993. They appeared in their first World Series in 2007.

Denver is also home to the Colorado Avalanche, a National Hockey League team that relocated from Quebec City in 1995. They have won two Stanley Cups (1996 and 2001) while in Denver and play at the Pepsi Center.

The Denver Nuggets of the National Basketball Association, formerly the Denver Rockets, are hosted by the Pepsi Center. The Nuggets have one American Basketball Association (ABA) Conference title, three ABA Division titles, and seven NBA Division titles as of the 2009-2010 season.

Other professional sports teams

The Colorado Rapids of the Major League Soccer team, played at Invesco Field at Mile High through 2006 until a new stadium, Dick's Sporting Goods Park, was built in nearby Commerce City in 2007.

Commerce City is a northern suburb of Denver.

The Colorado Mammoth of the National Lacrosse League is hosted by the Pepsi Center. The Mammoth won the NLL Championship in 2006.

The Denver Outlaws of Major League Lacrosse play at Invesco Field.

Other sports teams

The Glendale Raptors have both men's and ladies' rugby teams, as well as youth leagues, located in Glendale as part of the Glendale Rugby Football Club.

The Colorado Buffaloes are the collegiate teams at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

The Colorado State Rams are the collegiate teams at Colorado State University in Fort Collins.

The Denver Pioneers are the collegiate teams at the University of Denver in Denver.

DENVER EVENTS CALENDAR

There's always something to do in Denver. Whether you're trying to find something to do after your meeting or conference, or you've decided to extend your trip, you won't have to look far to find something going on around town. Our monthly events calendar profiles annual events that have become mainstays and even Denver traditions!

January

National Western Stock Show & Rodeo is nearly a century old with more than 15,000 animals displayed and sold at this annual event, including more than a dozen ticketed events from auctions to bull riding.

Martin Luther King Jr. Parade is billed as the largest Martin Luther King Jr. march in the United States. The annual event draws upward of 30,000 participants who gather at City Park and proceed to Civic Center Park for a rally.

February

Carnival is held at the end of February when Shining Stars Foundation hosts a fundraiser at the Colorado History Museum for the Aspen Winter Games to be held in mid-March. The event features live Brazilian samba music, food, drinks and more.

March

The St. Patrick's Day Parade is the city's biggest annual parade featuring horses, stagecoaches, marching bands, floats and fun.

April

The Cherry Creek Sneak starts at Cherry Creek Drive North. Participants race, sprint, walk or crawl competitively through a five-mile course on streets near Cherry Creek.

Earth Day at Denver Botanic Gardens is free at the 1005 York Street location only.

Major League Baseball begins in April! The Colorado Rockies Opening Day is the season's first home game and draws a huge crowd throughout LoDo and the Ballpark communities in downtown Denver. Nothing signals the advent of spring more than baseball! The sport is tightly meshed into American culture with historic firsts, iconic performances, record-setting events, and traditions from hot dogs slathered in mustard to unexpected curveballs and seventh-inning stretches.

Major League Soccer with the Colorado Rapids and teams from both the eastern and western conferences vie for glory in regular season matches on to the playoffs and cup finals.

May

Denver's Cinco de Mayo celebration is billed as the largest Cinco de Mayo event in the United States. This annual extravaganza draws more than 400,000 attendees to Civic Center Park where hundreds of booths sell Latino food, crafts and art.

The Downtown Denver Arts Festival takes place during Memorial Day weekend. Over 135 artists bring mixed media, clay, fiber, photography, furniture, glass, jewelry, wood and more to display their work at the Denver Pavilions at 16th and Glenarm.

Furry Scurry is an annual two-mile walk or run through Washington Park with or without canine accompaniment. It benefits the Denver Dumb Friends League and the area's homeless animals.

The Mile High Amazing Race is based on the popular television series. In mid-May, teams race to checkpoints, perform tasks and conquer challenges along the way. Starting from downtown Denver around the Pepsi Center, this event benefits the Leukemia Lymphoma Society.

June

The CHUN Capitol Hill People's Fair exists as a celebration of the diverse Denver urban community and its residents. As Colorado's premier arts and crafts festival, the uniqueness and magic of the People's Fair is created by the careful blending of great family fun, carefully selected handmade arts and crafts, delicious culinary delights, fabulous entertainment, and the commitment to raise funds for and promote the missions of non-profit organizations.

Film on the Rocks occurs from mid-June until mid-August at Red Rocks Amphitheatre in Morrison. The film festival features classic films, live bands and is emceed by top comedians.

Greek Festival celebrates Denver's Greek community and serves up baklava and more with art exhibits, live music, dancing and a big, fat overall good time.

Juneteenth celebrates the end of slavery in Texas at the Five Points neighborhood with a parade, gospel extravaganza, entertainment and exotic food.

PrideFest starts with a morning parade to a flamboyant festival with food, live music and information about LGBT (lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender) community activities.

July

Cherry Creek Arts Festival in Denver's Cherry Creek North neighborhood hosts visual, performing and culinary artists. There are vendor booths, family activities, and four stages of live entertainment, including cooking demonstrations and live music.

The Colorado Dragon Boat Festival at Sloan's Lake Park in Lakewood offers Dragon Boat races. You can explore villages from three Asian countries, performing artists, a Marketplace, plenty of children's activities, a Taste of Asia food court and much more featured at the Colorado Asian Pacific American community's annual cultural festival.

The Colorado Irish Festival is the largest such celebration in the Rockies, including Irish dancing, drama, storytelling, food and drink.

The Moonlight Classic allows you to cruise on your bike through the city in the middle of the night. Imagine the exhilaration of pedaling through the deserted streets of Denver with the moon lighting the course for you and thousands of other cyclists.

Summer Brew Fest at the main lot A of Coors Field hosts over 25 state and local breweries offering over 70 Colorado crafted beers. Accompanied by live entertainment, this celebration revels in the state's craft beverages and benefits the Colorado Environmental Coalition.

August

Join this Celtic celebration featuring pipe bands, drumming, Scottish athletic competitions, highland dancing and folk music at the Annual Colorado Scottish Festival and Rocky Mountain Highland Games.

The Annual Rocky Mountain Balloon Festival features 65 hot air balloons floating over Chatfield State Park, in addition to exciting exhibits, activities and vendors.

September

The Colorado Performing Arts Festival hosts dance, theater, music, opera and storytelling at the Denver Performing Arts Complex, with nine theaters seating 10,000.

Festival Italiano has quickly become one of the best festivals in Denver. Held in the Belmar shopping area in Lakewood, the Italian extravaganza offers some truly different activities. For adults, there are wine seminars and tastings, chef demos and Italian lessons. For kids, there is grape stomping — Balistreri Vineyards makes wine every year from it, called Little Feet Merlot —, face painting and storytelling. There is terrific food, a bocce ball tournament, chalk art, Sinatra singers, traditional Italian flag throwing, and pizza dough tossing.

The Great American Beer Festival is held every September at the Colorado Convention Center. This event allows beer lovers to sample some of the finest beers in the world and it offers multiple opportunities to learn about all things beer.

The Denver Nuggets' regular season starts in September; they are part of the NBA Western Conference. National Basketball Association (NBA) is composed of thirty teams in North America (twenty-nine in the United States and one in Canada). It's an active member of USA Basketball, which is recognized by the International Basketball Federation as the National Governing Body (NGB) for basketball in the United States.

Are you ready for some football with the National Football League and the Denver Broncos? You can count on the National Football League to deliver non-stop grid action, leading to playoffs and the incomparable Super Bowl. Invesco Field, located minutes from downtown Denver, is the home of the 1998 and 1999 Super Bowl-winning team, the Denver Broncos.

The Taste of Cherry Creek has mouthwatering dishes from Denver's finest eateries to benefit the Denver Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure in conjunction with the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

October

National Hockey League packs a motherlode of milestones. Those most memorable to the Denver community are when the Colorado Avalanche won the Stanley Cup twice, in 1996 and 2001. The franchise was founded in Quebec and was the Quebec Nordiques until moving to Colorado in 1995. Since then, the Avalanche have won eight division titles and went to the playoffs in each of their first 10 seasons in Denver, with the streak ending in 2007.

Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure is held every first Sunday in October. Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure is the largest series of 5K runs/fitness walks in the world.

November

The Denver International Wine Festival is held during the first week in November. The University of Denver's School of Hotel, Restaurant and Tourism Management hosts the Chef's Wine and Food Competition, the student-crafted Vintners' Grand Dinner, and the Grand Tasting of International Wines and Food featuring hundreds of wines from over 19 countries.

The Downtown Denver Grand Illumination occurs over the last weekend in November. The City and County Building, Larimer Square, Denver Pavilions, Union Station, Skyline Park, and the 16th Street Mall will be lit up and decorated for the holidays.

Light up Larimer occurs in mid-November when organizers light up the shopping district for the holiday season. Every weekend through early January becomes an extravaganza of carolers, tuba concert, ice sculpting and more.

December

9NEWS Parade of Lights is the first week of December when marching bands, lights, floats and giant balloons parade along two miles of downtown Denver streets. The parade starts at the Denver City and County Building, with the Denver skyline in the background.

Blossoms of Light is the illumination of 12 acres of gardens. Carolers, dancers and more unfold at the Denver Botanic Gardens throughout the month.

Denver Christkindl Market lasts from the last weekend in November until the day before Christmas Eve. Vendors from Germany and other foreign countries offer hand-carved wooden figurines and other handcrafts at Skyline Park where German food and beer, pastries, candies and Glühwein (mulled wine) are featured.
