

For the first time since the inception of the Federal Viewpoint Survey GSA ranked in the top five in the midsize agencies category on the 2021 Best Places to Work in Federal Government list. GSA landed 4th overall, which is a two-spot jump from last year. Locally, Region 8 was also named a Top Workplace by the Denver Post, making it the third year our region has received this recognition. These two honors led us to ask “What makes GSA a great workplace?”

We decided to go right to the source - our people or as we like to call them “the talent” and talented they are! GSA employees have opportunities to work in a variety of unique professions, including

- Property Management
- Engineering
- Architecture
- Contracting
- Leasing
- Project Management
- Human Resources
- Budget and Finance
- Communications and Public Affairs

Believe or not, we even have employees who work in historic preservation and fine arts. In the GSA's Got Talent Series, you will hear directly from employees and why they love their job and working at GSA.
